COME FROM WEST

Son of Hetty Ready for a Leap Year Girl but Won't Marry Clothes Horse.

San Francisco, Jan. 31 .- Edward Howland Robinson Green of Terrel, Texas, son of Mrs. Hetty Green, has arrived here from the East. Colonel Green, who is a banker and bachelor, has personally heralded himself as the great hope of the leap year girl, and admits he has his hig heart's strings well attuned for Cupid's flashes.

She is to be a western girl, meaning that if the leap year finds Colonel Green with his matrimonial prize she will have come out of the West, free from what the colonel terms the follies of enstern social life, a real type of western womanhood, such as illustrator Harrison Fisher was eagerly hunting for a year ago in California

A girl with a "slashing head," well poised on a good pair of shoulders a broad, straight forehead, eyes well separated, brown hair and rugged countenance, a countenance that is not worm by social cares, but is brightened by accumulating responsibilities of home life.
